Prince George, B.C.- There's been a CN derailment 90 miles northeast of Prince George.

CN's spokesperson, Emily Hamer says initial reports indicate eleven cars of a northbound 127 car train derailed.

The cars jumped the tracks around 6:15 this morning near the Hodda Forrest Service Road near the Parsnip River.

"We do know the cars are empty sulfur and centre beam cars" says Hamer.

There were no injuries, and the cause of this derailment is under investigation.
