

Jan 31, 2015 Hamilton Spectator

UPDATED: No injuries, no spills in CN freight train car derailment in Richmond Hill

By Tim Kelly

A freight-car derailment at Yonge Street just after noon Saturday has closed down Richmond Hill's main thoroughfare between Elgin Mills Road and Newkirk Street. As of 4:55 p.m. Saturday, CN crews and police were still on the scene investigating the minor derailment.

The two-car CN derailment resulted in no leaks and no injuries, according to Sgt. Sarah Butterworth of York Regional Police, who said the freight cars remain upright.

Police, who are detouring vehicles around Yonge St., were unsure at press time when the street would reopen to traffic.